Carolyn Mamchur is a professor at Simon Fraser University in BC and the award-winning author of psychology texts, articles, poetry and children's books, including INSIGHTS, A TEACHER'S GUIDE TO COGNITIVE TYPE THEORY AND LEARNING STYLE, THE POPCORN TREE and IN THE GARDEN. She has written ten feature film scripts and a half-hour drama for CBC.

She is a popular guest speaker and presenter and has lectured and delivered a myriad of workshops in Europe, the Soviet Union, the Orient, the United States and Canada including a Vancouver's PRAXIS, Centre for Screenwriters.

She earned a doctorate at the University of Florida where she studied with the founders of CAPT, Centre for Application of Psychological Type and with southern writer, Harry Crews. She did post doctorate work at the Jung Institute in Switzerland where she furthered her research and studies in the application of psychological type theory.

As a writer and educator, she is presently focusing her interest in psychology and creative writing, particularly screen writing and the use of the archetype in creating authentic characters. She became certified as part of her latest Jungian studies to use a branding instrument which determines organizational and personal archetypes. She is incorporating that work into her ongoing, never ending book on character that better get done this year.

She has recently from a trip to Japan where she worked with university leaders and political leaders regarding literacy issues in Japan and the crisis around motivation. She is presently engaged in a university wide program in adult literacy for SFU which encompasses film and story telling. She and Peg Campbell are creating a documentary film of the process. As a key person working in literacy she is Coordinator of Foundations of Academic Literacy for students and Director of Writing Intensive Workshop for Professors. She and Claire Murray story teller are writing a docudrama using the events and stories of the program and the people living in it.

Her professional work is balanced by her love of gardening and she is busy week ends with her daughter and two dogs planting a three acre botanical garden in Bow, Washington. Her latest book, CRAZY FOR TREES, describing just how and why a woman in her fifties would find it irresistible to create a garden in the middle of a forest, is the subject of a series for television called THE DOLPHINS under consideration by Force Four Productions. She has just completed a trilogy, MARIA KAT, and has begun work on a second trilogy about the same character as an adult.

GUEST SPEAKER, COMPOSER

NATHAN HILTON
London, UK

Nathan Hilton is a composer, producer, and sound engineer from London, UK. He recently graduated from the University of Surrey's Tonmeister programme, where he specialised in composition and recording techniques. As part of the programme, he spent a year working as an in-house assistant and engineer at Phoenix Sound Studios – a commercial recording facility based at Pinewood film studios. Here he was lucky enough to be involved with a wide range of projects, including the film MAMMA MIA, several BBC radio jazz sessions, a new work by composer David Fanshawe, and the soundtrack for the Harry Potter computer game.

Nathan has also freelanced on several freelance projects ranging from a project recording studio design to engineering a big band album. Additionally, Nathan has produced and recorded tracks for some of London's upcoming bands, notably the debut EP for TANGENT EYE (www.myspace.com/tangenteye).

As a composer, Nathan has had works performed at the Guildford International Music Festival in both 2007 and 2009. Recently, he composed music for a short film titled BRILLIANT by director and filmmaker Michael Klekamp. He is currently working on a solo album of electronic music, as well as building up his library of compositions. A sample of some of his work can be found on his Myspace page listed below.

THE BANFF CENTRE – MUSIC & SOUND

CHRIS SEGNITZ
The Banff Centre
Studio Manager, Audio Department

As studio manager for Music & Sound at The Banff Centre, Chris Segnitz is responsible for the coordination of recording and production spaces as well as the workstudy participants. His role also involves the coordination and tracking of projects, both internally and externally.

After completing two diplomas at BCIT in Electronics and Broadcast Engineering, Chris began in the industry at Vancouver's famous Little Mountain Sound in 1983 as part of their technical team for their multi-room rock/pop and radio production studios. From 1988 to 2000 he fulfilled the role of audio technologist for The Banff Centre's music recording facilities, which saw the initial installation of the facilities within the Jeanne and Peter Lougheed building. During this time he also did freelance studio installations in Vancouver, Calgary, and Hawaii. From 2000-2002, he worked in Los Angeles for Solid State Logic as service engineer for their western U.S. and Mexico clients in support of their broad range of clientele. This involved technical support in the areas of music, post-production, film scoring, and broadcast. In the fall of 2002, he moved to Montreal and began work at McGill University in support of the music faculty and its recording program. Primarily, it involved him in the planning of the new research facilities and infrastructure of the Centre for Interdisciplinary Research in Music Media and Technology (CIRMMT), a new research building on McGill's Montreal campus.

Chris returned to Banff in the fall of 2004 to start in the newly created studio manager position.
