SIM INSTRUCTOR

CAROLYN MAMCHUR
Vancouver, BC

Carolyn Mamchur is a professor at Simon Fraser University in BC and the award-winning author of psychology texts, articles, poetry and children's books, including INSIGHTS, A TEACHER'S GUIDE TO COGNITIVE TYPE THEORY AND LEARNING STYLE, THE POPCORN TREE and IN THE GARDEN. She has written ten feature film scripts and a half-hour drama for CBC. Her script, Sunnyside Canal, is presently option by Stuart Margolin. She has a script, Winter Rose, in development with a past graduate of SIM – Elizabeth Becker. She is an editor/consultant for Telefilm Canada and has acted as editor on four scripts growing out of her workshops offered in Montreal in 2009, 2010.

She is a popular guest speaker and presenter and has lectured and delivered a myriad of workshops in Europe, the Soviet Union, the Orient, the United States and Canada including a Vancouver's PRAXIS, Centre for Screenwriters.

She earned a doctorate at the University of Florida where she studied with the founders of CAPT, Centre for Application of Psychological Type and with southern writer, Harry Crews. She did post doctorate work at the Jung Institute in Switzerland where she furthered her research and studies in the application of psychological type theory.

As a writer and educator, she is presently focusing her interest in psychology and creative writing, particularly screen writing and the use of the archetype in creating authentic characters. She became certified as part of her latest Jungian studies to use a branding instrument which determines organizational and personal archetypes. She is incorporating that work into her ongoing, never ending book on character that better get done this year.

Based on the success of her faculty wide program, Foundations of Academic Literacy, Carolyn has just created and taught a "first time ever" course, Foundations of Self Efficacy: Finding Voice and Place in Academia. She has been named a Teaching Fellow for her work in this area, and is now advisor to the Academic Vice President. In how to improve teaching and learning at Simon Fraser University.

Her professional work is balanced by her love of gardening and she is busy week ends with her daughter and two dogs planting a three acre botanical garden in Bow, Washington. Her latest book, CRAZY FOR TREES, describing just how and why a woman in her fifties would find it irresistible to create a garden in the middle of a forest, is the subject of a series for television called THE DOLPHINS under consideration by Force Four Productions. She has just completed a trilogy, MARIA KAT, and has begun work on a second trilogy about the same character as an adult.

THE BANFF CENTRE – Film and Media, Audio

CHRIS SEGNITZ
The Banff Centre
Studio Manager, Audio Department

As studio manager for Music & Sound at The Banff Centre, Chris Segnitz is responsible for the coordination of recording and production spaces as well as the workstudy participants. His role also involves the coordination and tracking of projects, both internally and externally.

After completing two diplomas at BCIT in Electronics and Broadcast Engineering, Chris began in the industry at Vancouver's famous Little Mountain Sound in 1983 as part of their technical team for their multi-room rock/pop and radio production studios. From 1988 to 2000 he fulfilled the role of audio technologist for The Banff Centre's music recording facilities, which saw the initial installation of the facilities within the Jeanne and Peter Lougheed building. During this time he also did freelance studio installations in Vancouver, Calgary, and Hawaii. From 2000-2002, he worked in Los Angeles for Solid State Logic as service engineer for their western U.S. and Mexico clients in support of their broad range of clientele. This involved technical support in the areas of music, post-production, film scoring, and broadcast. In the fall of 2002, he moved to Montreal and began work at McGill University in support of the music faculty and its recording program. Primarily, it involved him in the planning of the new research facilities and infrastructure of the Centre for Interdisciplinary Research in Music Media and Technology (CIRMMT), a new research building on McGill's Montreal campus. Chris returned to Banff in the fall of 2004 to start in the newly created studio manager position.

KEVIN FALLIS

Kevin is a native of Toronto Ontario. He began playing bass at an early age, and at 17 moved to Montreal to pursue studies in jazz performance at McGill University. While attending, he had the opportunity to perform with the McGill Jazz Orchestra 1 under the direction of Prof. Gordon Foote. The band performed across North America and played with jazz notables Rene Lee, Slide Hampton, George Garzone, Andre White among others. After graduation, Kevin continued to work as a session musician and composer in Montreal. Kevin's understanding of music and love of technology led him to develop a deep interest in recording, and started engineering and producing local artists. Kevin then moved to Vancouver to attend the Sound Design program at the Vancouver Film School. His work includes records, tv commercials, independent videos games, independent films and one feature film. He is excited to work with all the great artists visiting the Banff Centre.

Daniel Jobbins is a young Engineer/ Producer/ Artist and song writer that specializes in hip hop, alternative hip hop and rock but has worked with many other styles and genres. Starting his recording career off in September 2010 right after graduating high school with his French bilingual diploma. He began learning at APRA (Academy of Production and Recording Arts), a small recording school that is run at "The Beach Advanced Audio" in Calgary Alberta. Daniel began working tightly with experienced producers and engineers. Learning from the experienced people at APRA, Daniel was able to successfully work and help teach the younger students about the recording industry and working with various artists. Daniel has spent the summer of 2011 working on a feature length movie for Bollywood Films Canada and received a screen credit for foley work and sound design. When Daniel is not in the recording studio engineering or producing he enjoys writing and performing his own music. With Daniel's appreciation for all genres of music, he combines all music styles into his own style of hip hop. Before graduating high school Daniel was brought on board with a small entertainment group and record label based out of Cleveland Ohio and has been working tightly with them ever since. Daniel is looking forward to what he will learn and the skills he will gain from The Banff Centre and is excited with what the future has to offer.
